

NORTH CAROLINA SCHOOLS TO WATCH MODEL SCHOOL—VISITOR'S GUIDE

Seventy-First Middle School

Designated in 2006

- Seventy-First Classical Middle School • Cumberland County Schools • Cumberland County • North Carolina • Scott Pope, Principal • 6830 Raeford Road, Fayetteville, NC 28304 • Phone (910) 864-0092
- E-mail scottpope@ccs.k12.nc.us
 - Web Site <http://www.sfcms.ccs.k12.nc.us/>

2007-08 School Statistics

(Source: 2007 NC School Report Card.)

Community: Suburban fringe of a small city
Enrollment: 525
Grade Levels: 6-8
School Schedule: Traditional

Student Demographics

44% White
41% African American
8% Hispanic
6% Asian

20% Free/Reduced Lunch
3% English Learners

2005 AYP: High Growth, Honor School of Excellence
Met 21 of 21 performance targets

2006 AYP: Honor School of Excellence
Met 21 of 21 performance targets

2007 AYP: High Growth, Honor School of Excellence
Met 21 of 21 performance targets

(Visit <http://www.ncschoolreportcards.org> to view this school's data for prior years.)

School Characteristics and Replicable Practices

Seventy First Classical Middle School located in Fayetteville, and is a 100% School of Choice in the Cumberland County School System. This school has demonstrated tremendous academic success. Since 1998, the school has been labeled a School of Excellence by the state. The students and staff appear happy at Seventy-First. There is valuable input and buy-in from stakeholders when making decisions for the school. Parents are very pleased with programs and the care/concern shown by teachers and staff. Seventy-First Classical Middle is able to meet the needs of their students, parents, teachers and staff in an environment where excellence is expected yet students are nurtured.

Academic Excellence

- High expectations are communicated by everyone in the school
- Inquiry Learning / Hands-On Science labs are interesting and effective
- Assessment comes in various forms: self-assessment, rubrics, projects, peer review, benchmark testing, and both formative & summative assessments are routine
- The school demonstrates a strong commitment to the arts as well as core academics. Artists and authors to come speak to the student body
- Instructional strategies involving higher-order approaches to thinking/questioning are the norm

(Continued)

Developmental Responsiveness

- Teachers are passionate about the students' well-being. We heard this repeatedly—not only from teachers, but also from parents and students
- Service learning is important, and students are engaged in real-world problem solving
- The Student Council meets weekly, and is an active voice for student involvement
- There is a strong use of integrated teaching strategies to engage students. The art teacher works with the social studies teacher to find overlap
- Each year the school surveys students to see if they are meeting students' needs. More importantly, the school makes changes based on the survey's results

Social Equity

- All students have access to rigorous curriculum and co-curricular activities
- The Foreign Language Department was phenomenal
- Student “voice” is important and valued at Seventy-First
- 8-period daily schedule has an Advisory period. Everyone, including counselor and all elective teachers have an Advisory group that goes to lunch together
- A new wellness program replaces intramural program. All students are involved with this program.

Organizational Support

- At the summer retreat, the staff re-visits their mission statement. This statement is read every day over the announcements with students and teachers widely repeating and internalizing it
- Professional Development is high priority
- Strong use of outside resources such as visiting authors and special guest speakers help to bring the curriculum to life for students
- Very active PTA – over 300 members with 2000+ volunteer hours
- Assessment is well-organized and frequent, and the school is organized for student success